DEWEY SOPER MAKES STUDY OF BUFFALO

Fort Smith, N.W.T., June 4.—Important investigation among the buffalo will be carried out during the coming summer by J. Dewey Soper, the noted naturalist who discovered the breeding grounds of the blue goose in Baffin Land.

Accompanied by Mrs. Soper, Mr. Soper arrived aboard the Northern Echo on its first trip of the season, and prepared immediately to plunge into the wilderness of the vast buffalo reserve here to carry out his researches. His principal method of travel will be horseback, as the buffalo range cover their trails with bones. There are cabins at various points in the buffalo reserve, so that Mr. Soper will find conditions a good deal more in his favor than they were in the Arctic.

C.G.I.T. PARENTS' NIGHT
The two groups of C.G.I.T. girls of the First United Church held as a windup feature of their season's program a parents' night, which was very pleasant, though quite different from the customary Mother and Daughter banquet. Friday night saw the girls foregathered in the church auditorium, with Miss Florence French presiding. A delightful yet characteristic program of brief addresses illustrating the ideals of the groups, and of spiritual songs and solo parts. The program culminated in a missionary feature, being a lecture on Korea, illustrated by colored lantern slides. The lecture was given by Miss Irvine, leader of the Senior C.G.I.T. After the program the girls adjourned to a side room for a hot lunch sponsored by Miss M. Henderson and Miss E. Corbett of the Junior Groups. An altogether happy evening was spent.

On Sunday morning the girls attended church in costume and grouped themselves together in a special section to listen to the girls' sermon by the minister, Rev. A. B. Schrag. His text was "Let no man despise thy youth," and he drew lessons of importance concerning the responsibilities and privileges that rest upon the shoulders of the boys and girls of today.

LIBRARY NOTES
Are you fond of thrilling stories of discovery? If so you should read "The Romance of Exploration" by G. G. Jackson. The author appears to have ransacked the records of two worlds to give us a fascinating story of what ancient and modern discoverers have achieved. Many of the stories are old and of the more famous seamen, but a book would be valueless which omitted them. The author appears to have reduced a long record to a few pages and such a record will appeal to the busy man to whom the longer stories would be a closed book.

An historical novel of interest is "The Hounds of God," by Rafael Sabatini. A story of England and Spain during the time of Queen Elizabeth, which has in its later stages an Inquisition background. The title is, more or less, the literal translation of Dominicans, the Brotherhood in whose hands was the conduct of the Inquisition.

"The Maker of Dreams," by E. W. Savi. The story of a lonely Cornish village with a venturesome heroine whose thirst for adventure is more than satisfied. She sets a light trail of trouble for herself which ends in a mighty explosion—after which matters readjust themselves satisfactorily as all good stories should.

Members of the library should remember that Sundays count for fines the same as weekdays, as there is a great demand for books for Sunday reading.

The secretary was instructed to write and inform them that the disposal of all funds belonging to the Municipality remains in the hands of the Council. At the annual meeting there was a very small attendance of ratepayers, and while the Council gave due consideration to the method of disposing of this fund as suggested there, a much larger number of the ratepayers have since petitioned, in writing and in person, the Council to use it in the method that is being adopted. Also, the C.N.R. officials consider that a far greater benefit will accrue to the ratepayers of this Municipality by the method the Council have adopted, and therefore they cannot change their views in this matter.

By-law No. 32-2 was introduced to Council by Coun. Lundeen. This by-law provides for the consolidation of arrears of taxes in the same manner as that passed last year. Read three times and passed.

On Tuesday last, another large seagull was found dead by Henry Osgill Jr., on the farm of his father, three miles south of Wetaskiwin. It measured four feet, three inches from tip to tip of the wing and twenty-one inches from the tip of the beak to the tip of the tail, and had a Biological Survey Washington, D.C., tag number 700175. Another large gull was referred to in the last issue, found by Billy Beavo, of Wetaskiwin.

help any deserving case where an ex-soldier is concerned. Over $300 has already been paid over by the Wetaskiwin body.

It has also assumed itself in the matter of the Canton Fund and in the matter of Soldiers' Pensions. One of its objectives at present is to see that a fitting memorial is erected in Wetaskiwin to the soldiers who gave up their lives by reason of the Great War.

At the conclusion of the address several members spoke briefly. They voiced the opinion that such a memorial should be erected. Some of the suggestions were as follows: The erection of a memorial fountain in the park, the erection of a monument or cross in the park, the erection of a Memorial Hospital, and having a bronze tablet in the hospital with the names thereof of the fallen heroes. No definite recommendation was made as to the form the proposed memorial should take.

Weekly Garden Letter

Not Too Late to Start

If for some reason or other no garden has been started yet, it is not too late to put in many flowers and vegetables. Of course, if possible, with those long season plants like seed tomatoes, cabbage, egg plants, celery and cauliflower among the vegetables and zinnias, cosmos, petunias, marigolds and a host of other flowers. Then, too, it is advisable to use any short cuts within reach, like plant of commercial fertilizer, and water and cultivation. With later vegetables like corn, beans and melons, this is very little behind schedule and there is no reason why three sowings about a week apart cannot be made. This continuous planting will spread the harvesting season just that much farther. Instead of depending upon leaf lettuce, ordinary radish, and spinach which are among the first crops sown and harvested it would be better to plant Cos lettuce, a self bleaching hot weather sort, which if planted several times at ten day intervals will keep coming on all summer. Instead of the spring radish, the summer sort should be planted and Swiss chard in the place of spinach. This latter vegetable will produce a summer supply of greens, the leaves being used while the stems may be cooked and prepared like asparagus. Lima beans and Chinese cabbage are regularly planted in June.

Watch for Pests

Many a beautiful flower garden and a highly satisfactory vegetable stand has been partially or totally destroyed by attacks of insect and fungus pests which might easily have been controlled. Roughly speaking, the insect enemies are divided into two groups—those that eat holes in the foliage and those that suck out the juices. For the first named pest is usually applied, while the suckers are attacked with a burning spray which penetrates their hides. Often when both are present, a combination of something that burns, such as lime sulphur and arsenate, give the best results. The damage from the biting insects is usually quite apparent, but the presence of the other kind is only shown at first by a wilting or withering of the foliage. For sucking pests, chief of which are the aphids or plant lice, spray with whale oil soap, a quarter pound of soap to a gallon and a half of water; nicotine sulphate, or "Black Leaf 40," or any other repellent so.

important of all, to conserve moisture during dry weather. Neither vegetables or flowers will do well if they receive a check in growth through lack of moisture. In seasons of protracted drought, of course, it is impossible to prevent a setback unless one is fortunate enough to have a supply of water. But cultivation will help a lot as it prevents evaporation by creating a dust mulch on the surface of the soil. Using a special paper now being generally distributed, or vegetable refuse like grass clippings, bean and pea pods, carrot tops, etc., also helps to conserve moisture. The application of commercial fertilizer is another factor in fighting dry weather as this tends to keep growth going.

CUT-OFF DATE FOR THE 1931-32 POOL

The cut-off date for the 1931-32 pool has been fixed for July 15, 1932. All wheat delivered at country points in wagon-load lots or on load lots billed out of country points on or before that date will be included in the 1931-32 pool.

THESE MEN

Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands, and sometimes two wives; but never more than one collar or one idea at a time.

Like Turkish cigarettes men are all made of the same material; the only difference is that some are better disguised than others.

Generally speaking they may be divided into three classes: husbands bachelors and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a mass of obstinacy, envy, surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties: prizes, surprises and consolation prizes.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope and charity—especially charity.

It is a psychological marvel that a soft, fluffy, tender violet-scented sweet little thing like a woman should enjoy kissing a big, awkward stubbly-chinned tobacco and bay-rum-scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a man you frighten him to death, and if you don't you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you he gets tired of you in the end; and if you don't he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you believe him in everything you soon cease to interest him; and if you argue with him in everything you soon cease to charm him. If you believe all he tells you, he thinks you a fool; and if you don't he thinks you a cynic.

If you wear gay colors, rouge and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out; and if you wear a little brown tulle and a tailor-made, he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge and a startling hat.

If you join in the gossips and approve of his smoking, he swears you are driving him to the devil; and if you don't approve of his smoking and urge him to give up his gossips, he vows you are driving him to the devil. If you are the clinging-vine type he doubts whether you have a brain and if you are a modern, advanced independent woman he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright; maid and if you are brilliant and intellectual he longs for a playmate.

A BOOKLET ON FARMING

A most interesting booklet upon the feeding of farm animals has been published by the Imperial Oil Limited. It has been compiled by Mr. Duncan Marshall, who was Minister of Agriculture for Alberta from 1909 to 1921, and it represents a most extensive and intensive research into Canadian agricultural conditions and requirements. Mr. Marshall's previous works upon farming questions have commanded a wide and appreciative audience and this latest compilation will not disappoint his readers. The books already published are "Field and Farmyard," "Weed Control," and "Farm Management."

The introduction stresses the fact that more than seventy-five per cent of the grain and hay (the wheat crop excepted), grown on Canadian farms, is fed to livestock, and the purpose of the work is to outline the most scientific method of translating that grain and hay into profitable livestock products.

Mr. Duncan Marshall has treated his subject in a most exhaustive manner and his qualifications for giving advice on farm subjects are unusually high. Farmers are advised to take advantage of this booklet.

Incidentally, the Imperial Oil Company is to be congratulated upon continuing a policy of encouraging agriculture which is both wise and public spirited.

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVER MEATS

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

We are going to talk particularly about left-over meats. They may be used in salads, sandwiches, stews, omelets, or in creamed mixtures. Leftover ham is delicious chopped, mixed with a small amount of chopped green pepper and onion and combined with beaten eggs for an omelet. This egg mixture is sometimes used as a sandwich filling and is served under the name of a Denver sandwich.

Pieces of dried beef which are left after making enough creamed dried beef on toast for the family may be used as an appetizer. The small thin slices are spread with cream cheese mixed with a small amount of mustard and horse-radish, rolled and a sprig of parsley put into one end. These little rolls may accompany a jellied soup, tomato juice or a fruit cocktail. They have an excellent flavor and are easy to handle.

The baked sandwich is becoming popular. It is really no more than a man of biscuit dough topped with a highly seasoned meat mixture, covered with another layer of biscuit dough and baked. This mixture is cut into squares and served piping hot. Some people like it served with a very rich cream sauce or milk gravy.

There are dozens of ways of using left-over chicken and sometimes we like it better remade than we do originally. One of the nicest ways is to combine the shredded chicken with mushrooms, sweet breads and a thick white sauce. This mixture is put into a casserole or shallow baking pan, topped with buttered crumbs and baked until brown. The best ever chicken salad is made by combining the cold chicken with fresh pineapple, almonds and seeded white grapes.

A vegetable and meat combination, especially stuffed vegetables, is always welcomed by the family. The following recipes are all interesting and worth trying:

Vegetable Meat Casserole
3 medium potatoes, 1 pound ground roast beef, 1 large onion (chopped),

1 small green pepper (chopped), salt and pepper, 1 can tomato soup, ½ cup water, 1 cup rice krispies, 1-3 pound grated cheese, butter.

Place layer of sliced raw potatoes in bottom of greased casserole; then a layer of meat mixed with chopped onion, pepper and seasonings. Alternate layers of meat and potatoes until casserole is filled. Add tomato soup diluted with water. Sprinkle rice krispies on top, then cheese and dot with butter. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about one hour. Remove cover the last ten minutes so the rice krispies will brown. Yield: 7 servings.

Stuffed Vegetables

3 each tomatoes, green peppers and cabbage leaves, ½ pound boiled ham, 1½ cups rice krispies, 1 egg (well-beaten), 3 small onions (chopped), 1 clove garlic (chopped), ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1 tablespoon melted butter.

Remove seeds and tops from peppers, remove centres from tomatoes. Stuff with above mixture.

Dip cabbage leaves in boiling water to soften. Put stuffing in center of each leaf. Roll and tie or fasten with small skewers.

Place stuffed peppers, tomatoes and cabbage leaves alternately in a kettle or casserole which contains tomato sauce. Cover and simmer until tender (about 30-35 minutes).

Tomato Sauce

½ cup oil, ½ teaspoon black pepper, 1 onion (sliced), 3 tablespoons tomato paste, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup water, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt.

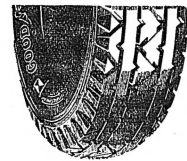

Put oil in saucepan, add pepper and heat two minutes. Add sliced onion and cook until a delicate brown. Mix tomato paste with water and add this to the oil in three instalments, allowing the mixture to boil up after each addition. Add tomatoes, bay leaf, and salt and cook slowly for 45 minutes. Put in the sugar and cook fifteen minutes longer. Yield: 8 servings.

In a man's eye, there is nothing which will take the place of good hash, which may be served to use up the leftover beef, pork, corned beef or veal. Corn beef has made into cakes and topped with poached eggs is one dish which will always win favor with the man of the house.

Left-overs are excellent foods and take just a little ingenuity and discretion in flavoring to eliminate the twice-cooked flavor or appearance.

prices would be a natural thing to expect.

Western Canada will probably raise a much larger crop this year than it did last year. But the increased production in this country will not offset the decreased production in the United States by any means and any damage which may occur to the crops of the Southern Hemisphere now in the making would immediately result in an acceleration of demand for Canadian wheat.

It appears to be a matter of general agreement that wheat will be one of the first commodities to come back in price. It led the way into the depression and is expected to lead the way out. Even the wheat consuming nations are agreed on this point. Every country in the world would be very glad indeed to see an end to the depression and hence the return of wheat to its economic value would be welcomed everywhere.

A good wheat crop in Western Canada this year would be a wonderful thing for the entire Dominion. It certainly would work a great change in conditions and greatly encourage the population. The chances are such an event would immediately dispel the gloom and pessimism which has hung over Canada like a cloud for the past two and a half years.—Calgary Herald.

DATA ON SUN SPOTS PREDICTS MORE RAIN IN WESTERN CANADA

Ottawa, June 3.—Western Canada may expect fairly generous rains for some time to come if sun spot data collected by the Dominion observatory make true to form.

According to observatory officials Canada is now approaching a "sun spot period," which should produce plenty of moisture for the western grain fields. The effect of sun spots, it was explained Friday is to increase the amount of rain falling on the sun spot period lasts for 11 or 11½ years.

This does not mean that tremendous quantities of rain will fall for a short period, but rather that over a long period the precipitation will be higher than when the sun spots are not in evidence.

LABORATORY YIELDS NEW FACTS ON KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Its "Bulk" and Vitamin B Help Relieve Constipation; Also Has Blood-building Iron

New laboratory experiments demonstrate that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sufficient "bulk" to exercise the intestines, as well as Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Now you can overcome common constipation by this pleasant "cereal way" and banish the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

No need to worry about pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Instead, just eat two tablespoons daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—adequate for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

E. Johnson, Mrs. A. Carlson and Mrs. W. A. Altvater, Mrs. Haselwood on behalf of the friends gave a very fitting speech for the occasion and presented Mrs. Holmstrom with a linen table cloth and napkins. Each member then worked a friendship quilt block for Mrs. Holmstrom. Later in the afternoon tasty refreshments were served and each one departed for home, wishing Mrs. Holmstrom many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. J. Treleven and Mrs. Lomas returned last Thursday from Michigan, where they spent the last three months.

C. T. C. Roper is having a cottage built at Pigeon Lake resort.

East is East and West is West, but men ride wherever the sun shines and the Trail Riders of the Camrose, with a membership which girdles the globe, are creating widespread interest with their plans for their 1932 expedition from Banff to Mount Assiniboine, through some of the most beautiful country in the great mountains from which they take their name. The famous peak, with its many adjoining lakes and valleys, was the focal point of the 1927 trail ride and this year's trip, starting on July 25, will follow generally the same lines, with nights spent in camp, and in the best traditions of the order. Ample time will be given for exploring the territory traversed, the ride occupying five days and traversing Brevett and Allenby Creeks; Assiniboine Pass and the shores of Lake Mary to the great mountain, which is the objective of the riders. Return will be made through the Valley of the Rockies, the Golden Valley; Citadel Pass and so through Sunshine Camp to Banff once more. The pictures shown above are distinctly interesting and show Lt. Col. Phil Moore, president of the Trail Riders, and Mrs. Moore, on camelback at the Pyramids, during the world-cruise of the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain", in strong contrast to the cowboy viewing Mount Assiniboine, where this year's trail ride leads. Inset is H. M. King Prajadhikop of Siam, who proved an enthusiastic trail rider during his visit to Canada last summer. Below, two fair bathers are seen setting out from one of the cabins at Assiniboine Camp.

BROOMHALL'S INTERNATIONAL GRAIN REVIEW

The international wheat price is slowly easing owing to the heavy world's stocks and the generally favorable world's harvest prospects. These factors are having greater influence upon values than the damage in the American winter wheat belt or the big European consumption. It is thought that Europe will continue using a large percentage of foreign wheat in the near future but Germany's political troubles are likely to discourage trade. Harvest in southern Italy starting. Prospects in Europe at present are reassuring so therefore present heavy world's supplies will exert a greater influence.

MANY FISH EGGS ARE COLLECTED

Fish eggs collected for the Lesser Slave hatchery for the current season totalled 148,200,000, according to Hon. R. G. Reid, minister of lands and mines. From the Whitefish river, north of Grouard, a total of 119,275,000 eggs were collected, and from Lesser Slave lake 28,925,000, or a total of 148,200,000. As the capacity of the hatchery is 125,000,000, a total of 7,000,000 was planted in the Whitefish river and 8,000,000 have been placed on spawning beds in jars in the hatchery.

A GRAND CANYON

Betty arrived at the canyon just before sunset. It was a glorious time to arrive there. The blueness was leaving the sky and tints of ivory, rose and gold were creeping in. A wondrous peace settled over the darkening rocks, and from the forest and canyon depths came fluid music of birds.

Betty sat by the canyon brink for a long time, while shadows crept up around her and a twilight breeze chilled the air. Then she sighed and picked up her suitcase and became aware of herself again.

My, she must be literally plastered with dust. A train ride from early morning and late in the afternoon a breath-taking ride in a big car from the railroad out to the hotel. As she entered the big log lodge to register, she felt conspicuous. But in a moment, she was upstairs, washing.

She felt a luxurious warmth of romance about her. Night had overcast the sky, except for a few lingering rays of daylight, and a moon was coming up like a round saffron cookie. Betty thought again of the young man who had whisked her out to the canyon. He had worn a brilliant henna shirt, lavender neckerchief, ivory riding breeches. He was broadshouldered, rugged and good looking. Certainly the son of the owner of this lovely place or at least an accommodating guest. He had explained that the bus had broken down and he was called upon to meet the train in the "car."

Betty thought about him constantly as she prepared for dinner. And arriving downstairs, he appeared before her eyes again as if by magic. It was he, she was sure of that. But now he was immaculate in a blue dinner jacket and white flannels. He approached her, hesitantly, as she stood on the steps. She looked at his polished head, his clean-cut features, his ruddy cheeks, his bright blue eyes. Her own cheeks reddened her eyes sparkled. She smiled. He smiled.

"I'd love to have your company for dinner," he said.

"And I'd be delighted to dine with you," she said as though it had previously been arranged. After dinner they went out in a garden and sat in a swing. He didn't ask her anything about herself and she didn't ask him anything about himself. They took each other for granted and enjoyed a mutual appreciation of the evening. The moon rose high and the air became frosty. Betty yawned, in spite of herself, and he insisted that she go up to bed. But up in that lovely bed situated so she could look out at the starlit softness, she couldn't sleep, despite the long journey of the day and of days previous to that.

Long into the night Betty thought of Bob. He must be the son of a wealthy family. Such a gentleman! And tomorrow he would take her riding down into the canyon. He knew everything about the canyon. He would show her some things few other people saw.

"Tomorrow" was a marvelous day for Betty, the happiest she could remember. They arrived back at the hotel with scarcely time to dress for dinner. But—it was her last day. The next day, before breakfast, she must be on her way again.

They chatted till late after dinner, and Betty permitted him to kiss her good-night. It was a good-by kiss, also. She had told him that she must leave. But in bed, later, she decided to stay over just one more day. She could arrange to be photographed. She phoned the clerk and told him not to disturb her at the appointed hour.

She slept late. Arriving downstairs after the other guests had gone about seeking morning's amusement, she entered the dining room to beg a bite of breakfast. And there Betty received the shock of her life. She had to wince to contain herself. But there was no mistaking that tall figure, that sleek blond head. And he was—she was picking up breakfast dishes! He was wearing an apron and a white jacket!

She stepped back against the door and he glanced around. Their eyes met, and their cheeks crimsoned simultaneously. His eyes flinched, then became steady. He smiled, hopefully.

"You see, I—I thought you'd gone," he said, softly.

"You — you stayed — to see me again?"

She didn't answer. He put down his tray and dropped the cloth.

"Oh, Betty, can you forgive such impudence?"

"There — there is nothing to forgive."

"But a girl like you —"

"I am nothing but an office secretary."

"A—what! You're not a rich girl?"

Bob beamed, hopefully. She shook her head.

MINNESOTA REPORTS ON FARM INCOME SURVEY

A survey of farm incomes on 147 farms in Minnesota made by the University of Minnesota division of agricultural economics reveals that in 1931 operators' labor earnings ranged from minus $5,005 to plus $2,325, with an average minus $622. Although most of the farmers failed to "earn" anything for their own labor after "interest on the investment" was deducted, some farmers found it possible to make fair returns. Poor crop yields were primarily responsible for low earnings over much of the territory. Price declines were a contributing factor. In this the large farms suffered most, as they had large quantities of supplies on hand and large numbers of livestock. These fell in price and value and pulled the resulting farm earnings to a low figure. On the 30 farms having lowest earnings the average inventory decline was $1,855. On the average of 147 farms this item alone was $971.

The survey showed that the average family consisting of 4.1 persons on an adult equivalent basis, consumed $209.24 worth of home grown food at farm prices.

up from five to a dozen. The mysterious appearance of the youngsters caused much comment, and finally, some of the residents started investigating.

They found that some 500 eggs had been thrown onto the pits a few days before, and the heat hatched the young. None knew where the eggs came from originally, but it was believed that they were part of the contents of an incubator, the owner of which made a miscalculation in timing, setting and hatching, and threw them away when the set time was up. However the drastic appearance of chicks proved the fertile condition of the eggs.—Albertan.

UNDULANT FEVER

Undulant fever is a comparatively new disease. It is now only in the sense that it is now recognized for what it is. The inhabitants of the island of Malta suffered for years from a disease known as Malta fever; this disease was thought to be limited to that island. It was discovered some years ago that this disease was spread by their regular milk supply which came from goats.

Contagious abortion is unfortunately far from being uncommon in the herds of Canada. The disease germ which causes contagious abortion is the same germ which, when it gains entrance into the human body, causes undulant fever. There are several varieties of this germ, close relations as it were, one variety prefers to live in the cow, another in goats and still another in hogs. So it is that the germ responsible for a particular disease on the island of Malta and which is spread by the milk from goats is much the same as the germ causing contagious abortion in animals in our country and responsible for undulant fever in man.

Undulant fever is contracted by man either through the use of raw milk from infected animals or by contact with infected animals. By infected, we mean animals which have the germ in their bodies.

Since the disease was recognized in this country, a number of cases have been reported. The disease varies in its severity. There is fever, headache, loss of appetite, weakness and either constipation or diarrhoea. It resembles typhoid fever. There are certain laboratory tests which may be made; these tests are of great assistance to the doctor in making his diagnosis.

In this, as in the consideration of other diseases, when we know the cause and how the disease is spread, we naturally ask how it may be prevented. The answer to the question can be definite.

The germ is in the milk. Pasteurization destroys the germs. Milk which is pasteurized is safe—only milk which is pasteurized is safe and if all milk were pasteurized it would prevent all the undulant fever which is now spread by milk.

Those who work with animals or handle meat should know that the disease may be contracted by contact with infected animals. The wearing of gloves, the prompt and proper attention given to breaks in the skin, the thorough washing of hands are the measures of self-protection which workers should use regularly in their own interests.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 134 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

SWINDLING THE FARMER

Farmers in the Red Deer west and south districts appear to have been swindled by individuals who have been selling wool cloth for suits. They sold the cloth alleged to be four yards, for $26, and a tailor was to follow on to make up the suit and an extra pair of pants for $7 to $10. The cloth did not measure out four yards, and the extra pants would have to be made out of less than half a yard, when more than a yard was necessary. The tailor never turned up to make the suits and the farmer-buyer has had to bring his cloth to town to have it made up. — Red Deer Advocate.

Mrs. Briggs spent the week-end in Calgary on business.

Miss Olga Zelman, now employed as clerk in the Millet U.F.A. store.

Fitting exercises were held by the school in honor of the King's birthday, June 3rd.

The Millet and West Liberty softball teams will play a game of softball at the West Liberty school next Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Goin motored to Fort Saskatchewan on Friday, for a short visit with their daughter, Mrs. Ernest Anderson.

Mrs. G. Pettigrew and Mrs. P. Easterbrook spent a part of the day in Edmonton last Saturday, returning home in the evening with their husbands, who are working at the present time at Coking Lake.

The many friends of Mrs. Ruth Simpson miss her happy, smiling face from its accustomed place behind the counter of the U.F.A. store. She has not yet made definite plans for the future, but we are glad to know that for the time at least she and her family will make their home in our village.

The Millet C.G.I.T. group held their annual paper chase to mark the close of the season. The chase started from the Millet United Church and ended at the creek near the railway bridge. Winners were rewarded around the camp fire, and the evening ended in a game of softball. There were about twenty participants, including the Misses Foster and Newsham.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Ed. Kinchell will be glad to know that she has sufficiently recovered from her long spell of illness to be at home. We are sincerely glad to have her with us again, as we missed her cheerful optimism during the past month. She returned to her home on the first day of June, after spending a month in the Wetaskiwin hospital.

Pictures were taken of the different school groups on Monday, each group having group pictures taken, also Gordon Kerr's football team, Rachel Dean's basketball team, and the honor class, which consists of the following honor students: Albert Jackson, Adrian Kent, Gertrude von Arx, Wallace McConnell, Phyllis Bear, Tom Rowley, Gordon Higginson and Joe Graham.

We wish to call your attention to the annual Field Day of the Northern Alberta Shorthorn Club to be held Saturday, June 11th. This is of interest to the Millet people as calls will be made at several farms in this district. The first call will be at 12:30 noon at the farm of Mrs. Helen V. Furlong's, thence to Mr. L. E. Marr's, and from there to the farm of Mr. J. O. Harvey.

The anniversary service of St. John's Church on Sunday last was well attended considering the state of the roads, and all present enjoyed the singing and the excellent address given by Mr. S. Faulkes. At the vestry meeting held afterwards, among other business discussed, were the holding of a churchyard bee for the men one day next week, and a card party the following week.

HILLSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Howes were visitors to Edmonton last Tuesday.

A number from the district journeyed to Millet Friday evening to see Deacon Dubbs. All report the play worth going to see "through the mud."

All roads will lead to Henry Young's on Wednesday, June 15th, when the annual picnic will be held. There will be a good line of sports for old and young, with two ball games, and a dance at night.

Miss Beth Howes, who is teaching at Geynes, spent the week-end with her mother and sister, Mrs. H. Marr.

Jas Hoskins and Wm. Runte are in Edmonton for the Junior Conference. They were heard over the radio Friday evening, when they took part in the speaking contest, their topic being "Leadership."

The latest addition to Hillside sports is a softball team, and they will be seen in action at the picnic on the 15th.

Mr. W. Webb returned to Edmonton on Saturday, but expects to be back in the district for the picnic.

Hillside school children will sing at the school fair concert to be held in Millet next week.

H. G. Young spent last Tuesday in Edmonton with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irvine, who have just returned from Ottawa.

The June meeting of the U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Dowell, Pika on the 21st. Mrs. L. W. Marr gave a report on Legislation. Mrs. Young gave "Current Events," and Mrs. Howard Marr gave a short reading on "How to Keep Your Husband Happy," which was followed by a round table talk and caused much amusement. At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Loader. The next meeting will be held at the schoolhouse, when the children of the members will be the guests of honor.

BORN

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dixon, a son, on May 26th.

THIS TIME MAY COME

This time may come: When some one will not be extolling the "good old days."

When oldsters will not be viewing with alarm the goings-on among the young people.

When comic sheets will not pretend that husbands are henpecked. When a reporter, a detective and a parson on the stage or in the movies will resemble a reporter, a detective and a parson in real life.

When popular magazines will think up some new way to adorn their covers without glorifying the American girl.

When a man will work as hard as he leads his wife and his friends to think he works.

When cynics will not be knocking the church and the church will not be knocking the world.

When an employee admits he is being paid all he's worth.

When professional reformers admit that society is O.K. and voluntarily quit their jobs.

When a man gives up his automobile and explains that he cannot afford one.

When somebody will not be prophesying that the world is coming to an end.

When suckers will not be stung by fake investment salesmen.

When bores will not take the perfunctory course "How are you?" as an invitation to give an "organ recital."

Yes, the time may come. But we don't expect to be alive to enjoy that millennial dawn!—Ex.

MILLET LOCAL NEWS

Miss Ruth Easterbrook spent the week-end in a pleasant visit at the Rickett's home east of Millet.

A wedding of interest in the Millet district took place when Miss Ella Mantel became the bride of Mr. Bill Leshert.

Don't forget clean-up day to be held at both cemeteries on June 10th. It is a worthy cause and a large crowd is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Facey and son of Edmonton, spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Facey.

We wish to again call your attention to the Interior Decorating course to be given free of charge at the home of Mrs. Ross on June 17th and 18th; also that the meeting of the U.F.W.A. will be held at Mrs. Ross' home on Friday, the 17th.

The Ladies Aid spent a very pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard on June 2nd. In spite of the brisk rain a large number of members and visitors attended. Mrs. Alice Dowler conducted the missionary program. Mrs. Easterbrook read a communication from a missionary in northern Alberta needing help very much. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. C. W. Parker, assisted by dairy little Miss Alma Nordqvist, great-granddaughter of the hostess.

Considerable damage was sustained by residents of Millet, when a small cyclone swept across the village from the northeast to the southwest on the afternoon of June 1st. The first damage was the demolishing of the Turai cigarette sign at the extreme north end of town; next in line was J. P. Clark's property where several trees were sent crashing to the ground. The twister then made a jump, landing next on the home of Mr. Simpson, twisting shingles from the roof in three large patches, then depositing a comforter on the roof of Mrs. Howard's residence; it then took a final flip at the home of John Barth, also removing shingles from the roof, and then sped on its way without further damage to our village.

An increase of 17 new junior locals reported at the 14th Junior U.F.A. annual business session Saturday at Convocation Hall is indicative of the progress these young people have made in many directions during the past year. In face of lack of funds for organization and membership their reports showed they have worked with a unity of purpose which augurs well for the future.

May alone 532 junior memberships were received at headquarters, and total membership at the present time number

Local activities have included debates, papers on a variety of subjects, lectures, contests and athletics, and several locals have been successful in issuing their own news sheet.

Among the boys keen interest has been displayed in grain clubs sponsored to teach the value of pure seed, and at the present time 47 of these clubs exist under the direction of the field crops branch of the provincial government. LIBERTY M.D. WINS IN APPEAL CASE

1,400, June 3.—Word has been received by Municipal District of Liberty No. 434 from their solicitors Maclean, Short and Kane of Edmonton, that at the opening of the Appellate sittings of the Supreme Court of Alberta at Edmonton this week an application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was made by the Edmonton Hospital board in regard to a case with the municipal district, but that the application was refused by the court and the matter is now at an end.

There's scarcely ever an ache or pain that Aspirin won't relieve—and never a time when you can't take it.

The tablets with the Bayer cross are always safe. They don't depress the heart, or otherwise harm you. Use them just as often as they can spare you any pain or discomfort. Just be sure to buy Aspirin and not a substitute.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

JUST AS GOOD!

Ask Yourself—Is It?

When you ask for a certain line of goods, a line which you have seen advertised in newspapers—and you are told "Here is something just as good and cheaper," it is time to do some thinking. If there is more profit in selling goods not advertised and you are buying at a saving, there must be something wrong somewhere—and usually that is loss of quality—something left out that is THERE in the advertised commodity you originally asked for.

It is well to remember that a manufacturer invests his good dollar in advertising space because he knows his product is right. The fact that he advertises in newspapers so that "he who runs may read" is evidence that he knows his claims are right, and that he is ready to stand behind his merchandise and the stores that sell it.

MORE RAPID TURNOVER OF MONEY INDICATES UPTURN IN BUSINESS

Ottawa, June 4. — The increasing rapidity of the turnover of money in the financial markets of Canada in the three months ending April broke an improving business situation and increasing confidence by the general public, says the department of trade and commerce in a statistical review issued Friday night.

Government statistics, says the review, shows that every dollar on deposit in Canadian banks was turned over 1.06 times in February, 1.07 times in March and 1.10 times in April.

This was intimated in official circles, and the order-in-council making the extension will probably be signed Monday.

One of the reasons given for the break of more than four cents a bushel in the price of wheat in Winnipeg on Saturday was the rush of western farmers to get the balance of their wheat to the elevators in time to obtain the benefit of the bonus.

The tax rate for the town will be reduced by 2 1/2 mills this year which is a source of encouragement to the ratepayers. The rate is 37 mills as compared to 39 1/2 in 1931, and the tax discount of 10 per cent. will be given up to August year as compared to $22,000.00 in 1931, and this accounts for the reduction in the tax rate, as the town itself reduced estimates by $24,414 over 1931, which, of course, would not affect the tax rate as a whole.—Stettler Independent.
